A Hotel in Diamonds

Like a story from the Arabian Nights is the description of the miniature model of the Royal York Hotel, shown at the Toronto Exhibition this fall. The model is valued at over $500,000 and in its construction there were utilized more than 15,000. Elle's faultless quality diamonds. They were mounted on a framework composed of satin wood covered with the finest wax. The miniature was drawn true to scale and measured 15 inches high by 12 inches broad. Reflected from thousands of facets, the brilliant display of light, broken into all the colors of the spectrum, made this exhibit one of the most visited and most talked of at the big Fall Fair.

Two New Residences in Town

The new residence for Mr Otto Hoffman on Third St. is nearing completion. Contractor E Anderson has built this in record time, and the structure is a credit to the residential district.

Mr Fry, an oldtime resident of Stony, has under construction a four-roomed bungalow on Meridian road, near Mr Peters' residence.

Change in Train Service.

Starting on Sunday last, a change was made in the running time of the trains to Prince Rupert. No. 5, which formerly arrived here at 10 35 p.m., will arrive now at 1 25 p.m. on Sunday, Tuesday and Friday. No. 6, east bound, will leave at 6 45 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday, Friday.

There is no change in the times of Vancouver trains. No. 1 stops at Stony every midnight, and No. 2 every morning at 5 43.

Hit-and-Run Driver Apprehended.

The accident on the Baseline, east of Stony, the night of Aug. 10th is recalled by the announcement that Jack McLeod has been apprehended in a B. C. town. Jacob Pepernich, who had been working for Mr Ries, had his leg broken when a car said to have been operated by Mr McLeod at that time, ran over him.

When and What to Shoot.

There seems to be some doubt in the minds of game bird shooters regarding the killing, this season, of partidges. This designation is now discarded in the Game Act. There is no open season for pinnated or ruffed grouse, or sage, spruce and blue grouse. The season for sharp-tailed grouse is open now and continues to Oct. 16th, with a bag limit of 5 per day. The season for Hungarian partridge is open now and remains open to Nov. 14.

Annexing George's Boots.

A threshing outfit from the Stony Plain district has been touring Manly district, threshing stooks and stacks. The crew had been troubled almost every night by petty larcenists purloining small belts, cog wheels, spark plugs, a mackinaw jacket, etc. Two of the crew decided to sleep near the machine and prevent, if possible, further pilfering. The second watch night the thief noticed a nice pair of top boots, about his size, sticking out of the straw; when he tried to pick 'em up he discovered a fellow by the name of George at the other end of the footwear, and what George said to his disturber started the latter away on a gallop. Nothing has been missed since.

Canadian Anomalies

Following the close of the Great War by the signing of the Armistice, Canada demanded and was accorded a place of equality with other nations of the world at the Peace Conference, and, with the creation of the League of Nations, Canada entered that League on exactly the same terms as all other nations. That is to say, Canada was recognized as a nation. And in signing the League Covenant, Canada accepted the responsibilities of a nation.

At the last Imperial Conference, in London, with all the self-governing Dominions of the Empire and the British Government fully represented, a formal declaration was adopted setting forth that Canada and the other self-governing Dominions were fully autonomous nations within the British Commonwealth of Nations, possessing exact equality with Great Britain.

As a logical outcome of these declarations, Canada has established her own legations in certain foreign countries, appointed her own ministers, and, in turn, these countries have named ministers at Ottawa. Thus, as a nation, Canada has direct representation at Washington, Paris and Tokio, in exactly the same manner as any other country. Equally significant is the fact that the British Government has appointed a High Commissioner to Canada, while Canada maintains a High Commissioner in London.

But while Canada is thus recognized as a nation, it is the only nation in the whole world which has no nationality of its own, and no distinctive flag of its own. These are anomalies which other people find it extremely difficult to understand.

In England, people born in that country are recognized and officially listed as English, if born in Scotland, they are listed as Scottish; in Ireland, as Irish; in France, as French; in Germany, as German; in the United States, as American. Born in Canada, on the other hand, a person may be listed as of any nationality under the sun except Canadian. Officially, there is no such person as a Canadian.

The writer of this article was born in Canada as were his father and mother. His mother's parents were both born in Canada. His father's parents were born in Ireland, their ancestors having crossed to the Emerald Isle from Scotland. So the writer becomes, in Canada, an Irishman although neither he nor his parents ever saw Ireland. If his grandfather had been born in Siam, then the writer would be a Siamese.

In the face of such an anomaly, such a ghastly absurdity, it is little wonder that the people of other countries laugh in the face of any person born in Canada who is bold enough to lay claim to his country being a nation.

Every nation in the world, except one, has a distinctive flag of its own. The exception is Canada. Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Newfoundland, the Irish Free State all have their distinctive national flag, as well as the Union Jack, the flag of all of Great Britain and the Empire. Canada has a distinctive flag for its merchant marine, and by Orders-in-Council it has been decreed that this shipping flag shall be flown over Canadian Government buildings in the British Isles, and in foreign lands, but it is not officially recognized anywhere else.

Thus, while a Canadian may fly a distinctive Canadian flag over a ship owned by him, he may not fly it over his office building or his residence, and while such a flag may be flown over a Canadian Government building in London, Washington, Paris, or Tokio, it cannot be flown over a Canadian Government building in Halifax or Vancouver, or anywhere between these two points.

A person born in Canada is, therefore, that peculiar individual among the peoples of the world who has no nationality he can call his own, and no distinctive flag that he can properly fly in his own land and over his own home and public institutions.

And yet the people of Canada find pride in calling Canada a nation. Why, this so-called nation of Canada has not even the right to amend its own constitution, a power possessed by other self-governing dominions of the British Commonwealth.

Canada is, and is proud to be, and desires to remain, a part of the British Commonwealth of Nations. It is proud of and loyal to the Union Jack as the flag of that great Commonwealth, and will ever retain it. But just as the Dominion has its own Coat of Arms, and each Province its Arms, and each city its Arms, so do the people of Canada desire to establish and retain their own nationality, have their own distinctive flag, and enjoy full autonomy in their domestic affairs.

Much as a native born Canadian may love England, or Scotland, or Australia, or New Zealand, he does not desire to merge his identity or lose his individuality. He is a Canadian and desires to be known as such, not as an Englishman, a Scotsman, an Australian or a New Zealander.

If Canada is a nation, let it display the qualities and the insignia of a nation.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has been recommended for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

All Weather Road Promised

From International Boundary To Prince Albert National Park

An all-weather highway from Regina or the boundary to Prince Albert National Park will probably be put into condition, F. R. MacMillan, of Saskatoon, president of the Saskatchewan Conservative Association, told members of the Kiwanis Club at Prince Albert. He thought that this should be the policy of the government, and the fact that a cabinet minister in the Anderson Government, Hon. J. A. Merkle, was on a trip to the park was an evidence of the government's interest.

Escape From Submarine

Men Leave Submerged Craft In Record Time During Experiment

Ten men emerged from the sunken submarine T-17 in forty-eight seconds during a submarine experiment in Italy, making what is called a world record for such a feat.

Half of the participants used head pieces, while the others were not especially equipped. The submarine carried a new device consisting of a large bowl beneath a torpedo tube permitting the men to leave the submarine without water entering the hull.

HEALTH REGAINED

Mother and Daughters Restored Through the Use of Dr.

Williams' Pink Pills

"Contrary to what my friends once thought, I am still living," says Mrs. Norman White, New Canada, N.S., and I give credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had been a sufferer for some years. I was weak and nervous, my heart would palpitate violently at the least exertion. I grew so weak that I could not do my housework. I was under doctor's care, but it did not benefit me. A second doctor was called in, but with no better results. I was told that I was almost bloodless, and I became so weak I was forced to remain in bed. My friends did not believe I could recover. While in this condition a neighbor strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was like grasping at a straw, but six boxes of this medicine were got for me, and by the time I had taken them I was able to sit up. Another six boxes were got and soon I was able to go about, my health steadily improving. I continued the use of the pills until I felt my health fully restored. I still take the pills occasionally as a safeguard. My two daughters have also used the pills with the most beneficial results. The trouble in my case was the anemia that so often comes when girls are entering womanhood. Under the use of this medicine both fully regained health, strength and activity. You can see, therefore, that it is impossible for me to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly, and I hope every weak person who may read this will benefit by my experience."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A "space rocket," designed to shoot upward for 32 miles, and it is hoped, be the forerunner of a rocket that will carry mail to America in 30 minutes, is to be built at once, it has been learned.

Prof. Hermann Oberth, a Romanian scientist, designed the rocket. It will be built under the supervision of the U.F.A. Film Company. Its object, for the first flight, is to measure the physical and chemical properties of the atmosphere. Instruments will be enclosed in it to this end.

Artificial Silk From Acetic Acid

Combined With Cellulose Will Make Fine Fabric Is Predicted

Prediction that the sour taste in vinegar will be used to make artificial silk was made to the United States Chemical Society today by Professor D. B. Keyes, of the University of Illinois. The sour substance with which chemistry's magnetic touch may make finer dresses was called by Prof. Keyes by its scientific name, acetic acid. He told of a newly-developed process at Illinois for making it, developed in co-operation with E. P. King and Sherlock Swanne, of the university. For making artificial silk it is combined with cellulose to form cellulose acetate.

Mysteries Are Wrapped Up In Strange Disappearances Of Many Deep Sea Vessels

Denmark has abandoned its hopeless its long search for a clue to the fate of the full-rigged clipper training ship "Copenhagen" with sixty cadets aboard, seen for the last time in the throes of her struggle with a heavy sea off a lonely island in the South Atlantic. During the seven months of weary exploration that has intervened, not so much as a spar, a lifeboat or a piece of floating wreckage has rewarded the Danish seamen who undertook the quest for the missing ship. The mystery that envelops the Copenhagen closely resembles that attending the disappearance of the United States cutter "Cybele," and it has prompted the New York Sun to recall other tragedies of the sea that also remain unsolved.

In the latter part of 1925 an American steamer came upon the schooner "Mary Comyns" in the Pacific. Nothing indicated that the schooner had suffered from disastrous weather or that it had been swept by a high sea. Bloodstains were found on a newspaper in the cabin, but no evidence of a struggle; there was neither officer nor crew aboard, and no boats were missing. What had occurred aboard the craft will, in all probability, never be known. Two years before this the captain of the French sailing ship "Emile Gallien," in rounding Cape Horn, found a three-masted vessel embedded in an iceberg. The craft was firmly fixed in a cleft of the ice mass about twelve feet above the water's edge and, with the exception of a broken topmast, appeared intact. There was no sign of life aboard, and all the boats were in place. He reported the circumstance and the ship was later identified as one long reported missing, but no one was able to offer an explanation of its loss.

A French steamer fell upon a large junk in the China Sea, which, upon investigation, the master found was deserted. In the junk he came upon a cargo of silk and a considerable sum of money. The only explanation was offered by a Chinese member of the crew, who said that it was a craft belonging to a band of pirates who had fled the vessel in fear that the steamer was a disguised warship. As strange a discovery was reported by the captain of a Dutch liner plying among the West Indies and along the South American coast. He boarded a tramp steamer destitute of life except a starving dog. He found evidence that the crew had only shortly before abandoned the vessel. His theory was that when the ship had become becalmed they had taken to a small boat in the hope of towing the vessel, but had been swept away by a strong current. The steamer had been listed among missing ships, but in this case, too, only conjecture was left regarding the fate of its crew.

Not always does Old Man Sea leave so much of a clue to his mysteries. It is because he restores these missing ships to human ken that another chapter could be written of their disappearance.

The vulture can see from a great height, while the chick, or the wren, will pick at objects so small that the human eye misses them.

New Varieties Of Rust-Resisting Wheat

Best Production Not Yet Sufficient For Seed Distribution

Two or three varieties of wheat which will resist rust have been developed by the Department of Agriculture. It was stated by Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of the department, "Our experiments this year confirm the earlier prospects," said Dr. Grisdale. "No names have yet been given the new varieties, and it will be two or three years before they can be produced in sufficient quantities for seed distribution, but we feel confident that we have the kind now that will resist the known varieties of rust."

Rambouillet Sheep

Considered To Be The Best Breed For The Beginner To Raise

Although not well known in the province of Manitoba, the Rambouillet breed of sheep enjoys a wider distribution on the North American continent than almost any other breed. They possess some very desirable characteristics, in that they are unusually hardy, and free from most diseases that affect sheep. They have an excellent quality of wool, the ewes make excellent mothers, and through a foundation of Rambouillets, a high class flock of any of the blackface breeds may be quickly developed by the farmer who pays careful attention to his breeding practices. There is no doubt but that the Rambouillet breed is the best for the beginner in sheep, owing to the fact that generations of breeding on the large ranges, has developed in this breed, a remarkable ability to take care of themselves under any conditions. The sheep that are being supplied to Manitoba farmers by the Manitoba Livestock Credit Company, this fall, are a carefully selected lot of the Rambouillet breed.

The president and directors spent several hours in the camp on their way to the west.

West Going Ahead

Sir Henry Thornton Takes Note Of Movements On Trip To Western Canada

"There is a silver lining to the cloud insofar as the situation in Western Canada is concerned," stated Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, on returning to his headquarters in Montreal, after a tour which took him throughout the Western Provinces and to the Pacific Coast.

"While it is true that the West is not harvesting such a voluminous crop as in average years, and it is also true that some farmers and some districts are hard hit, it must be remembered that there are districts and farmers in those districts who have harvested better crops than they anticipated a short time ago, and who are reaping the benefit of higher prices from their held-over grain from last year, and also higher prices for the grain which they have produced in 1929."

The West has gone ahead and is going ahead; building up on a basis of sound progress, and one going from the East cannot fail to be impressed with the same development which is taking place on all sides.

"On the Pacific Coast, in particular, the development of trade with the Orient is being closely followed, and there is also a realization of the fact that Canada is sharing and will share to a greater degree in the further development of that trade," Sir Henry said, concluding with the statement that he had inspected the properties of the system in each of the provinces visited and he had found things in good condition everywhere with the officers and employees keenly on the alert to provide the best service to its patrons.

Merely An Uncle

Lord Macduff, the young son of Prince and Princess Arthur, of Connaught, had just learned the words of the national anthem, and he told his nurse that he wanted to see "Our Noble King."

One day when the King was walking in the grounds at Baginbode with the Duke of Connaught, Lord Macduff was told by his nurse, "Look, there is the King, with Grandfather."

"Oh, no," said little Lord Macduff, "that is not the King. That is my Uncle George."

Residents of Akhvik and other points inside and outside the Arctic circle in the far north are to be given a daily news bulletin through the action of Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, who with the co-operation of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signallers has inaugurated a wireless news service which will do much to improve the isolation of those pioneer men and women—traders, ranchers, trappers, prospectors, missionaries, doctors, teachers and members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who are carrying civilization into the far north.

For the past few years the residents of the Mackenzie District have had the benefit of the wireless service for telegraphic purposes. Stations at Fort Smith, Resolution and Simpson, in the valley, and Akhvik and Herschel on the Arctic coast, have been linked up in this manner with the R.C.C.S. station at Edmonton, but only commercial and urgent private messages have been handled.

However, Mr. Stewart felt that something more could be done with the equipment, and he has now, in co-operation with the department of national defence, made arrangements whereby every day one of the officers of the Department of the Interior, at Edmonton, prepares a 500-word bulletin of news of special interest to northern residents, to be broadcast to the receiving stations of the north.

The bulletins thus received are posted at the local offices of the North West Territories and Yukon branch, and at all police posts where they are stationed, and where they can be read without charge by the residents of the various settlements.

The work has been placed in the hands of assistant commissioner of Dominion lands, R. B. Matheson, at Edmonton, who has sent out the first bulletin has been sent out. The news bulletin will be continued without interruption as far as possible, and according to northerners now in the city will prove of inestimable benefit to people living in the outlying sections who will thus be kept in touch with world events and Canadian happenings of particular interest to them.

Describing a Canadian

Immigration Act Leaves No Room For Argument

From time to time the question is asked: "What is a Canadian?" There is an agitation for provision in the census defining Canadians and it is likely this will be done in the next census two years hence.

As a matter of fact, a Canadian is clearly described in the Immigration Act as follows:

"(i) A person born in Canada who has not become an alien; (ii) A British subject who has Canadian domicile; or (iii) a person naturalized under the laws of Canada, who has not subsequently become an alien or lost Canadian domicile."

This would appear to meet the case adequately.

Germany Planning

World Plane Lines

Company Aims For Regular Flying Boat Service Over Atlantic In Two Years

A gigantic network of air lines which will cover the entire world is being planned by Luftansa, Germany's most important air company. The plans are being worked out by Otto Merkel, who has given up his post as head of Luftansa to devote himself to founding an international company, which promises within two years to open regular air lines between Europe and the United States.

Working jointly with the Hamburg-American steamship line, preliminaries have been completed. The details of the new company are still somewhat uncertain, but the approximate direction of developments has been mapped out.

"Not only is the world's interest concentrated in air travel, but in all countries the best technical experts are working out the details," said Herr Merkel. "The experimental stage is behind us and the goal is clear. We have fine planes available, especially in America, excellent motors, and everywhere responsible pilots and dependable instruments which will result in an even higher standard soon."

RECOGNIZING OUR DEBTS TO OTHERS

Golden Text: "Not looking elch of you to his own things, but each of you also to the things of others.—Philippians 2:4.

Lesson: Nehemiah 4:15-23; Mark 12:28-34; Romans 13:7; Philippians 4:10; Colossians 3:12; 4:1; James 2:14-17.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 40: 5-10.

Explanations and Comments

Recognizing Our Debt To Others. Mark 12:28-34.—A scribe who was standing by, and knew that Jesus had answered wisely the question put to Him, asked Jesus, "What commandment is the greatest of all?" Jesus replied by quoting Deuteronomy 6:4-5: "Hear, O Israel: the Lord our God, the Lord is one; and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength"—that is, with all thy powers. "In these terms some interpreters recognized the language of a primitive psychology, an attempt at a threefold or fourfold division of human nature, 'soul' referring to emotion, 'mind' to intellect, and 'strength' to will. But whatever may be thought of this suggestion, it is manifest that the words are intended to claim for God the affection of human nature in all its extent and in all its intensity."—James Stalker.

"The second is this," continued Jesus and quoted Lev. 19:18: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." "The chief service rendered by Jesus to this second commandment was to associate it not closely with the first. In the Old Testament the two commandments lie far apart with no indication of any connection between them; but He brought the two together in such a manner as to suggest that they have an intimate relation to each other. In reality they are twin commandments; and so closely are they connected that they cannot exist, or at all events they cannot have a healthy existence, apart."—James Stalker.

Fulfilling Our Debt To Others. James 2:14-17.—"What doth it profit, if a man say he hath faith, but have not works?" James asks the Greek means literally, what is the use, "if a man say he hath faith, but have not works?" can that faith save him?" When Ruskin says, "What we think, or what we know, or what we believe in, in the end, of little consequence; the only thing of consequence is what we do," he is in the line of a more doctrine, a barren belief that does not lead to action; and so is James when he says, "What doth it profit if a man say he hath faith, but have not works?" Moreover, the "faith" referred to here is the Expositor's Greek Testament explains, "faith is expressed in the 'Shema' (Deu. 6:4 etc.): 'Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God, the Lord is One'; this was the fundamental tenet of the Jewish faith, and that it is in this which reference is made, and not the Christian faith, is obvious from verse eleven, which contains the essence of the 'Shema'."

World Famous Artists On Canadian Radio

HAROLD BAUER

FLORENCE AUSTRAL

Florence Austral, the world's greatest dramatic soprano and Harold Bauer, one of the outstanding pianists of all time, two of the world famous artists who will be heard on the air this season during the Imperial Hour of Fine Music, to be broadcast from Toronto every Sunday evening, beginning on October 6th, from 8 to 9 Central Standard Time. Miss Austral opens the series on Sunday evening, October 6th and Mr. Bauer will be heard on October 20th.

Announcement of a series of concerts by world famous artists on a Canadian radio chain was made yesterday by F. J. Wolfe, Director of Imperial Oil, Limited. The series will begin on October 6th and will continue for twenty-six weeks. It will be broadcast through stations at Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, London, Waterloo, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina and Red Deer and, with the completion of hook-up facilities at the end of the year, at Vancouver.

Among the universally known artists who have been engaged for this series are Florence Austral, the world's greatest dramatic soprano; Sophie Braalun, the great contralto; Harold Bauer, one of the outstanding pianists; Richard Crooks, the American tenor who, though only twenty-eight years of age has scored notable triumphs in Europe and America; Lea Luboshutz, who is said to be the greatest of all women violinists; Hans Kindler, the famous Dutch cellist; The London String Quartet; Albert Spalding, great violinist; Luella Mallus, one of the most famous coloratura sopranos; Josef Lhevinne, the great Russian pianist; Richard Bonelli, leading baritone of the Chicago Opera; The Kedroff Quartet, formerly of the Imperial Palace at Petrograd, and others.

The series will consist principally of symphony concerts at most of which one or more of these famous artists will assist. A great symphony orchestra of more than fifty players has been engaged and will be under the direction of Reginald Stewart, who has lately returned from a concert tour in Europe, and who has been engaged as a guest conductor for the London Symphony Orchestra in April next. The concerts will originate in Toronto and will be offered from 10 to 11 o'clock Eastern Standard Time for twenty-six consecutive Sunday evenings, beginning October 6th.

"Our object in promoting these concerts," Mr. Wolfe said, "is to bring to people within reach of a modern 'hook-up' facilities in Canada, music and artists which, without the medium of radio, could not be heard outside the great metropolitan centres. We do not regard radio broadcasting as a direct advertising medium and feel that it can function most usefully in purveying entertainment of educational and artistic merit. The aim of the orchestra group artists will be to broadcast classical music and modern novelties of more than ordinary merit."

The series, which will be known as The Imperial Oil Hour of Fine Music, will go on the air through stations CHYC, Montreal; CNRO, Ottawa; CKNC and CFBF, Toronto; CJCG, London; CKCR, Waterloo; CKY, Winnipeg; CHWC, Regina; CFCQ, Saskatoon; and CKIC, Red Deer.

Take Off Over-weight

Modern science says sugar supplies energy that lets you carry on with less food and safely reduce weight.

WRIGLEY'S is pure chicie, sugar and flavor. Chewing the chicie dissolves the sugar and releases the flavor.

In this pleasant way you get needed body fuel and reduce the pounds.

The Newspaper Guide

Advertisements Are To Shoppers What Time-Table Is To Traveller

The newspaper that carries a good line of advertisements is to the shopper what the time-table is to the traveller and the published guide to the tourist. Busy people start to study these advertisements in the home or in the office, and before they start shopping they know where they are going. In fact, business places are points of interest to all tourists, and the non-advertiser puts himself outside the pale so far as strangers are concerned.

GRAIN EMBARGO IS REQUIRED TO EASE CONGESTION

Winnipeg.—Serious congestion in the lake head's mammoth grain elevators brought suggestions that the placing of an embargo on western grain shipments appeared to be the only remedy to the situation.

Fort William and Port Arthur terminal elevators, with a storage capacity of 80,000,000 bushels today are housing practically 70,000,000 bushels, leaving a comparatively small storage space through which to move the incoming crop.

Lack of demand for Canadian grain in the world markets and the resulting congestion at Montreal, is responsible for the situation at the head of the lakes, and railway authorities here intimated that the placing of an embargo probably will be necessary.

E. B. Hanna, chairman of the board of grain commissionaires, commenting on the situation, said an embargo seemed to be the only remedy.

A similar situation arises every fall, pointed out the grain board chairman. He indicated, however, that last year at this time the shortage of cars to handle the heavy prairie crop had itself acted in the nature of an embargo, preventing progress of grain to the lake head. This season, with sufficient cars available to move the wheat east of Port Arthur and Port William elevators are reported plugged almost to capacity, while harbor conditions do not point to an early rush east of lake boats.

Balloon Found Unmanned

Believed To Be One Piloted By French Flier

Paris.—A tragedy of the air was indicated as a balloon without passengers floated to the ground near Kamenice, Jugoslavia.

The Aero Club of France was advised the balloon carried the club's flag, and that blood spots were found on the torn basket. An altimeter registering 5,000 meters (about 19,000 feet) was found by peasants nearby.

It was believed the balloon was the one in which Pilot Nugent left St. Cloud, near Paris, to complete in the Aumont Thievill Cup race. The place where the bag was found is 850 miles from Paris.

Convicted Of Manslaughter

Mrs. Pantages, Wife Of Theatrical Magnate, Found Guilty By Jury Los Angeles.—Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of the theatrical magnate, was convicted of manslaughter by a jury which heard her trial on a charge of second degree murder.

The jury of five women and seven men made no recommendation for leniency. The sentence for manslaughter is fixed by California law at from one to 10 years in the penitentiary. Three women jurors wept as the verdict was read.

Mrs. Pantages was charged following the death of a Japanese gardener, killed when their automobiles collided last June.

Denies Dirigibles Are Obsolete

London, England.—Emphatic denials of the statements in London newspapers that the dirigibles now under construction for the British Government—the R-100 and the R-101—were obsolete, was made by Commander Sir Charles Burney, head of the Airship Guarantee Company which is building the R-100.

Favors Canadian Flag

Nanaimo, B.C.—After debating for more than an hour, whether or not Canada had a distinct national flag of its own, the British Columbia School Trustees' Association decided that she had not, and the proper authorities should be informed that the association favored a distinctive emblem.

There are only about 40,000 Eskimos in the entire Arctic.

Colony For Doukhobors

Two Hundred and Fifty Members Of Sect Transferred From Jail To Colony In B.C.

Nelson, B.C.—Some 250 Doukhobor men, women and children who have been confined to the provincial jail here, were transported by the provincial police to Porto Rico.

Porto Rico is a former Christian community lumber camp which is situated some 15 miles south of Nelson. Last Friday when these Sons of Freedom were camping on the outskirts of the city, Peter Vergeff offered this old camp site to the Doukhobors as a permanent habitat.

Starting early in the morning trucks and buses carried loads of prisoners from the jail to Porto Rico until 4 p.m., when all the Doukhobors had been safely landed. Each bus in addition to the prisoners, carried a couple of deputies to preserve order if necessary. This measure was not necessary.

When all had arrived at the camp it was noticeable that many of the Doukhobors directly started to pick out living quarters from among the camp buildings.

The majority of the buildings at the camp are windowless and doorless, and the more industrious of the Doukhobors began to repair their future homes to protect them against the cold nights that are setting in.

Will Start In December

Preparations Almost Completed For Western Air Mail Service

Ottawa, Ont.—The western air mail service will be inaugurated early in December and the tentative date for the first flight has been set for the second week of the month.

This announcement follows the statement of the Department of National Defence that the radio and light beacons and the emergency landing fields will be installed and ready for use by December 1. The Post Office department is fully prepared to put on the service at that date, and the Western Canada Airways, it is understood, have completed preparation and should begin the flying end of the service on short notice.

The bi-weekly air mail service from Edmonton north along the Mackenzie River will begin earlier than the main service across the prairie provinces. This northern service will commence as soon as the winter season sets in and the planes can use skis with safety.

New Airway Mapped

London To Capetown Will Be Longest In World

London, England.—The longest airway in the world—an 8,000-mile route from London to the Cape—is to be inaugurated by the Imperial Airways early next year.

As a result of the great 20,000-mile aerial survey of Africa, made by Sir Alan and Lady Copland in their big Short-Rolls-Royce flying boat, a route through the heart of tropical Africa, passing over deserts and jungles, has been mapped out.

Agreements have been made with the various governments concerned for supporting the air line, and preparations are now being completed for its opening. Passengers and mails will leave London every Saturday in a giant triple-screw Armstrong-Siddeley air liner, and will arrive in Capetown nine days later, having flown by a combination of big air liners and all-metal flying boats.

Discuss Coal Prices

English Mine Owners Consider Question For Canadian Trade

London, Eng.—A dozen large coal mine operators from various parts of the country met Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, at the treasury, to discuss the question of prices of coal for the Canadian trade. The minister for employment who has just returned from Canada pointed out the great possibilities of the Dominion for British exporters. He was stated the deputation was not officially representing the mining association of Great Britain, but it was noticed that Evan Williams, chairman of the association and W. Lee, its secretary, were among those present. No statement was issued immediately.

CHAIRMAN OF ROYAL COMMISSION

Philip D. Ross, proprietor of the Ottawa Citizen, has been appointed chairman of the royal commission, announced by Premier Ferguson, which will study the welfare needs of the province.

Will Remain In Canada

No Truth In Rumor That Sir Henry Thornton Was Leaving

Ottawa.—Sir Henry Thornton will remain in Canada as president of the Canadian National Railways. Any doubt on this point was settled by Premier Mackenzie King, following a recent meeting of the cabinet. In the absence of Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways, who is in the West, the Prime Minister was unable to say whether or not a renewal of Sir Henry Thornton's contract with the government had been signed.

There was no question, however, about Sir Henry remaining in Canada, the prime minister said. Recently there have been rumors that the president of the Canadian National might go to England.

Ban Religious Holidays

Soviets Dispense With All Religious Holidays, Including Sundays

Moscow.—All religious holidays, including Sundays, are abolished under the new 24 hour system of labor introduced throughout the Soviet Union. Workers are given one day of rest every five days.

The only holidays not abolished are October 25, anniversary of the October revolution; January 9, anniversary of Lenin's death, and May 1st and 2nd, International days of labor celebrations.

Edison's Pupil Visits Canada

Walter Huston, Seattle boy who won the special prize donated by Robert Edison, for research and inventive potentialities, was a visitor to Canada recently, when he took Canadian Pacific coast steamship "Princess Margaret" in a round trip from his home city to Victoria and Vancouver, Huston who is likely to become a second Edison, will devote his life to scientific research, he says, following the example of his famous friend and mentor.

Reparations Bank Shunned By League

Committee Withdraws Resolution To Establish Intimate Connection

The League of Nations will not seek, for the present, to establish close relationship between itself and the international reparations bank provided by the Young plan.

This became clear when a resolution envisaging the establishment of an intimate connection between the two was withdrawn from consideration in the Assembly's committee that deals with economic questions.

But its authors, Norway and Denmark, in withdrawing are believed to have gained part of their purpose. Their move was interpreted in some quarters as a signal by the countries not concerned directly with reparations payments that they will not be greatly pleased if the proposed bank seeks to assume too dominant a function in the economic life of Europe.

No Canadian Race

But Bureau Of Statistics Accepts "Nationality-Canadian"

Ottawa.—There is a Canadian nationality but no Canadian race, and any government form filled with nationality as "Canadian" is accepted, it was learned at the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Complaint was made in Toronto of a father who three times entered his child as Canadian and the form was returned, Ottawa being blamed. It is pointed out here that the vital statistics forms are made to the provincial authorities and not to Ottawa.

If the form was returned because the new baby was termed Canadian, it must have been returned by the provincial authorities. The Bureau of Statistics accepts "Nationality-Canadian," but also seeks racial origin, which has nothing to do with nationality.

New Zealand Showing More British Pictures

Quota Has Been Set By Regulations Of Government

Wellington, New Zealand.—A greater proportion of British moving pictures will be shown in New Zealand in the future, according to new government regulations. From October 1, exhibitors will be required to screen a fixed quota of British films.

The government says it has been assured ample supply of both the talking and silent films from British studios will be available during the coming year.

LABOR PARTY IN ONTARIO HAS ENTERED LISTS

Toronto.—The Ontario Labor party officially entered the lists for the coming election when it issued as the first step of its campaign, a manifesto giving the following by way of a minimum program:

Unemployment insurance. Extension of the public ownership principle.

A law to permit the election of police commissioners.

A liquor referendum. Compulsory public liability automobiles insurance.

Amendments to the Old Age Pension and Mothers' Allowance Acts.

The manifesto, criticized Premier G. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Conservative party, for bringing on an election "long before it was necessary to appeal to the country. Putting as an advocate of responsible government he has not thought it to use the British method where the Premier announces on the floor of Parliament before the elected representatives of the nation that on a certain date an election will be held."

The Labor party has always stood for the discussion of the liquor problem free from party politics, says the manifesto. "It recognizes that the solution of the problem is the taking of the manufacture of liquor away from private capitalists. If there is to be government control, it must not only be control of the retail sale of liquor but also of its manufacture. It is therefore of the opinion that in a question like the liquor issue, where centuries of prejudice exist on both sides, that the question should be submitted to the people in the form of a referendum."

Issue Interesting Report

Grain Commissioners Publish Baking Tests Of 1929 Flour

Winnipeg.—Low weight per bushel, lower flour yield, higher protein content; lower water absorption of the flour and excellent baking quality are features of a preliminary report on the milling and baking characteristics of western Canada's 1929 wheat crop, issued by Dr. F. J. Birchard, chief chemist to the Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada, and his assistant, T. R. Aiken.

Milling and baking tests conducted at the Dominion Grains Research Laboratory, in Winnipeg, indicate that, on the whole, the milling yield is inferior, but the baking quality, grade for grade, is fully equal to if not superior to that of last year, states Dr. Birchard in the report. The effects of frost and immaturity was not a serious consideration as was the case last year; practically all the wheat is sound and mature, but each grade contains an increasing number of undeveloped kernels and consequently the weight per measured bushel would appear to be the chief factor in determining the grade.

Tariff Board Application

Ottawa.—Initiation of investigations based on ten or more new applications will feature the first fall sittings of the tariff advisory board which will open on Tuesday, October 29. China-ware, glassware, linoleum and wall papers are among the commodities that will come under review at the hearings, which will extend over two weeks.

Birds Lured To Death

Toronto.—Lured by the brilliance of the beacon at Long Point, on Lake Erie, near Port Rowan, more than 800 song birds migrating to warmer climes for the winter, met death recently. Flying through a fog the birds were attracted by the bright light and dashed to death against the walls of the lighthouse.

Exhibiting Canadian Pictures

Ottawa.—Four pictures from the National Gallery of Canada will be sent to London shortly as the Dominion's contribution to the exhibition of Italian art, which will be held at the Royal Academy early next year. The exhibition is to be one of the most comprehensive ever held, embracing Italian art from the 12th century to the present day.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

Copyright, 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club wins fame on Broadway as a composer of popular songs. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, and makes her famous, too. Molly and Al have a baby, Junior, whom Al adores. Molly becomes romantically interested in John Perry, Al's close friend, and Perry begs her to leave Al. On the third anniversary of his marriage Al takes Molly home from the Club Bombo, where he is part owner. She is moody; her conscience bothers her because of her behaviour with Perry. This is intensified when Al goes to the nursery and she sees how ardently he loves Junior. Later, in a burst of rage, she tells Al she doesn't love him any more. As Al recoils, Molly hears Junior calling her.

CHAPTER XV.

Junior had awakened to find that his toy, his woolly dog, had dropped out of bed. So he was calling to Molly to come and get it for him. As his high childish voice drifted through the rooms to Molly and Al they gave a start. The expression on Al's face softened in an instant. Molly remained the same as she brushed by Al to look after Junior. Al turned, looking after her retreating figure, still in a daze from her harsh words. He had lost her love, she actually said so herself! Her words and the heart-breaking scene he had just passed through seemed fantastic and unreal to him. What had he done to deserve her indifference and her scorn?

Then, like a man in a dream, he followed her toward the nursery. Standing in the doorway, he saw her pick up Junior's woolly dog from the floor, replace it in the child's arms, and carefully tuck him in.

"Go to sleep, now, Junior. Then Mamma can sleep too."

How strangely contrasting was that soothing voice to the tone Molly had just been addressing Al! And how kind the expression on Molly's profile as she bent over Junior's bed! Surely this was not the end, thought Al. He suddenly determined that he would not let their life together be blasted by her whim; he would fight to reawaken Molly's love!

As Molly came toward him he raised his hand with an apologetic gesture. "Darling, can't we talk this out? If I've done anything tell me!"

"No—no more talk!" Molly passed him, entering her bedroom. He heard her door close with a snap of finality.

But now Junior was sitting up, holding out his arms to his father. "Daddy, please sing me to sleep."

Al came forward swiftly, picking up Junior, holding him close as if to drive away the wound Molly had inflicted. Here, at any rate, was someone who loved him, trusted him, and always greeted him with the same adoring, happy smile. For a moment Al choked up and couldn't speak. Then he said humbly,

"What do you want me to sing, baby?"

"You know," whispered Junior confidently, "that one about a little boy like me."

"Little Feller?"

"Yes, that one."

Slowly Al began to sing, rocking Junior gently to and fro. There was only an audience of one to hear—and that a very sleepy audience—the tenderness and appeal of Al's words had not been matched since that night three years ago when he had sung the love ballad "Always," to touch Molly's heart. As the song continued Junior's head dropped in drowsiness and presently his eyes closed. When Al knew that he was really asleep, the rhythmic words trailed off into a whisper and silence. Then, pressing the little form close to him for a last good-night hug, he put his son back in the bed.

Once more the tip-toeing from the room. Then Al stopped and gazed wonderingly at Molly's closed door. She was still up, in the semi-darkness of the hallway he could see a faint narrow line of light under the door?

Perhaps she was already repenting of her quick, unkind words—how passionately he wished that she would! Her pride wouldn't let her make up to him now, but, perhaps in the morning.

Until the long black hours of the night faded into the gray dawn Al sat up in bed, gazing out over the lights of the city, smoking one cigarette after another, wondering, hoping, planning.

In the morning Molly's manner was still cold, but her whip-lash tongue was silent. She avoided meeting his eyes and when she spoke it was about necessary things—concerning Junior or the household. Al, sensing Junior or the household, Al watched her, hoping to detect a softening glint in those icy blue eyes, but there was no sign of relenting. Finally he left the apartment for his work.

All through the day and evening there was an actual sharp pain in Al's heart as if a knife had been driven swiftly into him and withdrawn. But he went about his work the same as usual, trying to forget the scene of the night before. When he saw Molly after her performance that evening, he thought she was in better humor. She was not cordial, by any means, but she made some attempt to treat him courteously. His heart gave a bound; in a few days, he told himself, this mood of hers would wear off and she would be her own lovely self again. Their life together would not be smashed, after all.

So the days passed, with Molly avoiding Al most of the time, and maintaining a certain secrecy of manner when she did talk to him. Then New Year's Eve arrived, the New Year's Eve that Al was to remember always.

It was the big night in the city's life of revelry; snow blanketed the streets, embellishing the roofs and facades of the houses and skyscrapers, emphasizing the dazzling fantasy of brilliant Broadway.

At the Club Bombo the cause of "whoopoes" had its most devoted adherents. The crowd in evening dress wore tiny carnival hats and danced with the true spirit of abandon as midnight approached. Long streamers of confetti in brilliant red, green, blue, yellow and purple were shot across the room, describing graceful curves before they fell across the dining tables and the shoulders of the dancers. It was the biggest crowd the Bombo had ever caterlained and on the raised orchestra platform, stood Al, wearing a fantastic head-piece, a megaphone in his hands. He was leading the merriest, but the ache in his heart was still present.

Perhaps, he thought, the unrestrained gaiety of this night would change Molly's mood so she would become her old, friendly self. He gave a hurried glance toward her reserved table; she should be here by now. Then came the distracting business of introducing the celebrities, and once more he glanced at the vacant table and consulted his watch. Molly was at least a half hour late. He nodded toward the orchestra leader, signalling for another dance.

As the dancers swept toward the floor, he retreated among the tables. What was keeping Molly? He could hear the shrieks of the sirens from outside—the New Year had arrived, the time when feuds and misunderstandings are forgotten, new resolutions are made, and life begins anew. All this, he hoped desperately, would influence Molly.

The orchestra was playing with staccato briskness and abandon, the couples away and snuggled and called to one another.

"Choose a partner yourself!" cried a friend in passing, clapping Al on the shoulder. Al laughed in answer, but a moment later he moved toward the vacant table at the rear. Perhaps Molly had gone straight home from the theatre—he must find out!

The phone room was a sort of alcove, with three or four booths. Al entered, unlocked the door and calling his apartment number. But the door suddenly drifted open, allowing a roar of happy sounds to enter. Just then he heard a feminine voice at the other end of the wire. Molly's voice, he thought. He quickly pulled the door shut again and said:

"Molly, dearest, I've been holding your table for you—hoping you'd come."

But again the door flew open and he missed the answer.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF EVERY MOTHER

The child in the home is a never-failing source of joy, but at the same time a never-failing responsibility to the fond mother. It is not infrequently happens that minor ailments of the child distress and puzzle her. She does not know just what to do, yet she is often not serious enough to warrant calling in the doctor. At just such times as these it is found that Baby's Own Tablets are the mothers greatest help and friend.

Most childhood ailments arise in the digestive tract—the bowels become clogged and the stomach sour. Baby's Own Tablets are a never failing relief for this condition. They are a mild but thorough laxative and through their action on the stomach and bowels they banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and coughs; relieve all the pain accompanying the cutting of teeth and promote health-giving sleep. Concerning this Mrs. Jennings Mackay, Ont., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and think so highly of them that I would not be without them. Please send me your little booklet on the care of children."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Strange Aerial Cargoes

Airplanes Are Now Used To Carry Every Kind Of Shipment

Fifty tons of milk are being carried every week by airplanes between London and the Continent, says a Tip-Bits writer.

Recently a consignment of seahorses for the Zoo arrived by aeroplane at Croydon. Great care was bestowed on these fantastic creatures, half horse and half dragon, which were caught in the Bay of Biscay, and throughout the flight air was pumped into their tanks at ten-minute intervals.

Delicate goldfish are often transported in this manner, but the most valuable fish cargo by air was a number of very rare, rainbow hued specimens from the East Indies, some of which were valued at $180 per inch.

A barred cage was recently built inside the fuselage of an aeroplane which left Croydon for Le Bourget, where it picked up a fully grown lion, complete with trainer, and brought them back after over 100 miles an hour.

Another special compartment was fitted in an aeroplane to accommodate a performing circus horse from Paris to London, while an airfreighter arrived recently from Amsterdam with a bear, a monkey and a consignment of parrots.

Twenty years ago it would have been impossible to build a road to the site of the new observatory on Mont Blanc. The aeroplane has made it possible to convey the stones and materials to a height of over 13,000 feet on the mountain side; but when the road is completed it will be one of the most expensive in the world.

It seems strange that milk, easily obtainable in all great cities, should be carried by air, but mysterious zinc-lined boxes were once regularly carried from Croydon to Paris, and these contained two gallons of milk in glass bottles, packed in ice. The American visitors to whom the boxes were addressed had been so impressed with the purity of English milk that they cheerfully paid 80c. a pint to have it delivered to them in Paris!

Little Helps For This Week

"He will be very gracious unto thee at the voice of thy cry."—Isaiah xxx. 19.

Father! before Thy footstool kneeling.

Once more my heart goes up to Thee;

For aid, for strength, to Thee appealing.

Thou who alone canst succor me.

And oh! in my exceeding weakness,

Make Thy strength perfect; Thou art strong.

Aid me to do Thy will with thankfulness.

Thou to whom all my powers belong.

There is no good in praying for anything, unless you also will try to do it.

All the sighs and supplications in the world will not bring wisdom to the heart that fills itself with folly every day, or mercy to the soul that sinks itself in sin, or usefulness and honor to the life that wastes itself in vanity and idleness.

Opinion Wasn't Worth Much

It is told of a popular solicitor that he called upon a brother in the profession, and asked his opinion upon a certain point of law. The lawyer to whom the question was addressed drew himself up and observed: "I generally get paid for what I know." The questioner drew a half dollar from his pocket, handed it to the other and coolly remarked: "Tell me all you know and give me the change."

Appeal Dismissed

A case of interest to the people of Carvel was heard Monday before the appellate division of the Supreme court of Alberta. In June last Mr Luc Pawlyk obtained a judgment against John Pawlyk in a case tried before Judge Crawford, the action being over a mortgage placed upon the plaintiffs land by defendant and also covered an accounting between the plaintiff and defendant. Defendant John Pawlyk then appealed to the Appellate Division. After an argument lasting two hours, the Appeal Court dismissed the appeal with costs sustaining the trial judge's decision in favor of Luc Pawlyk. The appeal was heard by Chief Justice Harvey and Justices Clarke, Hyndman, Mitchell, Lunney, H A Mackie K.C., of Edmonton, appeared for John Pawlyk, while Luc Pawlyk was represented by Geo J Bryan, of Stony Plain.

Jumped the Grade

The sharp curves and high grades on the Baseline are still proving a trap for unwary drivers. While Mr W Pawlyk was approaching Mr Fuhr's gate Sunday night, on a motor trip to Stony, his car left the grade on the north side, slipped down a ten-foot bank, went thru a barb wire fence, breaking off a post in its onrush. Fortunately the car did not overturn and none of the occupants were harmed, merely receiving a good shaking up.
